So much of the do-it-yourself spirits consumed during Prohibition was like Vodka, unflavored and un-aged.

Discriminating consumers will wisely eschew the homemade or factory made variety in favor of the only spirit in the world to carry the Rockefeller name, which is produced in the Cognac region of France at our 19th century distillery.

The brands founders paired with a 5th generation Cognac producer (and Master Distiller) – decided to try what no one else had done before in the world of Vodka: Create and Distill Vodka in Copper Cognac Pot Stills!

Several years were spent perfecting the recipe. So if 21st century Vodka is created to be a neutral spirit - one without body and taste – we at Vintage Rockefeller decided to show what can be done in our method of distillation – to bring out the body, character and complexity of a truly great Vodka.

After distilling 6 times, and using a light Charcoal filtration system – unique to our method, we have a full bodied, crisp, handmade wheat Vodka that is unparalleled.
