DISA Expands International Business Operations in the North Sea Region with the Acquisition of RS Occupational Health

Based in Aberdeen, Scotland, RS Occupational (RSOH) has been one of the UK's leading independent occupational health providers for over 10 years. This acquisition includes the main facility in Aberdeen, as well as two regional locations in Great Yarmouth and Inverness. The company also uses a wide UK network of dedicated physicians that provide quality occupational health care services.

According to Jeff Boyle, DISA President and CEO, "This acquisition is a game-changing event for our company as a player in the global business market. RSOH has experience and a really strong service offering, plus multiple locations in the North Sea Region. We'll leverage and combine their strengths with DISA to target the immense growth opportunities presented by busy oil and gas operations in the area."

RSOH's occupational health services include general employment, health surveillance, vocational, and statutory services. They also provide unique offshore services, including Topside Cover, which is remote health care provided by a specialized team of doctors. Topside Cover is one of the most comprehensive services of its kind available within the UK.

RSOH is ISO9001, ISO14001 and OHSAS18001 certified, which is a reflection of their attention to quality and service excellence.
