LOCATION

At the very centre of the Polynesian triangle, the Cook Islands group consists of 15 islands scattered across 2 million square kilometres of the Pacific Ocean.

Aitutaki, forty minutes from Rarotonga, flying into Aitutaki over the island is an unforgettable experience; the vast lagoon below is awe-inspiring with its vivid array of colours ranging from jade-greens, turquoises and indigo blues.

Aitutaki is geologically part volcanic and part atoll here you will discover the most breathtaking lagoon you've ever seen, dotted with idyllic islands and fringed by the azure-blue Pacific Ocean.

Covering 19 acres, Pacific Resort Aitutaki is situated in Amuri, the western side or sunset side of the island of Aitutaki.

Like a siren of the Pacific, Aitutaki seduces you. An intimate collection of 27 absolute beachfront hideaways, secluded amongst lush, palm-filled gardens. This magical place in the South Pacific is home to "World's Leading Boutique Island Resort" (World Travel Awards) and member of the "Small Luxury Hotels of the World" collection.

Situated on a triangle-shaped atoll rising four thousand metres from the floor of the Pacific Ocean, Pacific Resort Aitutaki is an enclave of romance, refinement and luxury that beckons to even the most discerning traveler.

Here, nature is at its most dramatic and beautiful best. At every step, you'll be enchanted by our secret world of tropical trees and fragrant flowers, powder-perfect white sand, aquamarine seas, lily-laden pools and sparkling waterfalls, all set against the backdrop of ancient volcanic rock formations.

And even when your idyllic getaway comes to an end, the seduction doesn't stop. When you return home feeling refreshed and rejuvenated, you'll pause every now and then to revisit your magical memories of Aitutaki. And you'll realise that this exclusive, romantic sanctuary will hold you in its spell forever.
