PublicWorksAgency.com - the first Public Works global collaboration platform replete with powerful online tools and dynamic capabilities becomes the 1st collaboration platform for Public Works Industry Professionals, service providers, content contributors and educators.

PublicWorksAgency.com, also known as PWA PN, uses sophisticated social networking capabilities to enable PWA PN professionals to build online profiles, contribute content and improve business relationships.

A click on the “Signup Today” button allows new members to login, invite associates, and begin collaborating right away. Customizing membership profiles on PWA PN is a breeze and offers multiple advantages. Members have an opportunity to promote their unique corporate brand identity, find the latest content, and connect with professionals in the public works industry.

“It’s a simple, yet versatile, system that is packed with powerful online tools and capabilities that members can appreciate and will find immediately beneficial”, says Carlos V. Roman, Founder of PublicWorksAgency.com.

Unlike any site seen for the Public Works Industry, the PublicWorksAgency.com platform offers the perfect environment for members to collaborate, promote, and sell their products and services to other members on a single communication platform. Carlos states, “It is my hope that this communication platform will be used to the fullest extent possible as we continue to bring new functions and capabilities to our members.”

Other capabilities that members will find useful include the following:

- Members can view news; create events; polls; articles; post jobs, purchase advertisements as well as buy and sell equipment and materials.
- File sharing simplifies the posting of government Bids and RFPs - a golden opportunity to synergize on winning projects and creating jobs.
- The Report It! module allows members to report infrastructure issues, such as potholes and inoperable street signals, that need to be addressed by local agencies.

“I firmly believe in encouraging and empowering people to reap the benefits of online professional networking while advancing business relations and aspirations,” says Carlos.
