Teaching English as a Foreign Language (TEFL) is exciting and a wonderful way to see the world as you earn pay to cover the cost of housing, meals, personal expenses and even airfare. There are thousands of ESL teaching jobs around the world. English teaching jobs range from one-on-one, small intimate groups, language corners, and large academic classrooms. You may work in a public or private school; or even a corporation.

Our TEFL training course is a unique combination of online training and practical experience. The course is designed for active professionals and students to live, study and work, while earning a TEFL Professional Certificate during their spare time. Classes are taught in a virtual classroom community called "Blackboard" by Masters level instructors who have lived and taught English abroad for at least two years.
