

Better for your employees. Better for your business.

No other program offers more motivating rewards

As any manager knows, if you want to get someone to reach a goal, tie a bonus to it. That's exactly what InTune does. When an employee completes a healthy task or program, they are rewarded with a cash deposit into their own personal InTune VISA® debit card account—you set which goals will be tied to cash incentives and the dollar amounts. The employee can then spend the money on their card to reward themselves for their healthy behavior anywhere VISA is accepted, except for obvious non-wellness related outlets such as liquor and tobacco stores, gas stations and casinos.

In marked contrast, most wellness programs don't include a rewards component. The handful that do only offer discounts or points toward earning a limited choice of pre-designated products and services. InTune alone gives participants the freedom to choose their rewards—so they can choose what motivates them most.

