CHICK PACKAGING AND NEFAB TO MERGE OPERATIONS IN THE AMERICAS CREATING A COMBINED COMPANY WITH GREATLY EXPANDED OPPORTUNITIES

DALLAS, TEXAS, September 14, 2010 – Chick Packaging, Inc., a leading provider of industrial packaging solutions and services, is pleased to announce a merger with Nefab. This combination unites two market leaders, creating a world-class and truly global packaging company with an unparalleled presence and comprehensive set of packaging solutions. The new organization will have more than 40 manufacturing sites in the Americas, Europe and Asia, and 2,900 employees.

“This combination creates a strategic platform with significant opportunities to deliver innovative packaging solutions that provide value for our customers in a dynamic and highly competitive global marketplace. Combined, our companies have the very best talent in the industry dedicated to delivering superior service and exceeding our customer’s expectations,” commented Brian Bulatao, President and CEO of Chick Packaging.

“The depth of our resources and the breadth of our reach with Nefab makes us stronger than ever. Nefab-Chick will have eight Packaging Development Centers (PDC’s) located across four continents. The PDC’s, using advanced 3D CAD Systems and test facilities, can offer enhanced design, prototype, and testing services,” said Mr. Bulatao.

“Our businesses and geographical scope are highly complementary, which will give the new organization both a strong position among multinationals based in the US, and a global customer base through Nefab’s present network,” commented Stefan Ekqvist, CEO of Nefab. “Through Chick’s expertise and outstanding reputation, we can add solutions and services for a number of important customer segments including power generation, diagnostic/imaging equipment, aerospace and telecom/electronics packaging”, said Mr. Ekqvist.

Brian Bulatao, CEO of Chick Packaging, will assume leadership for the combined companies operations in North and South America, including Canada, the US, Mexico and Brazil.
