Sortis Publishing releases new children's book aimed at motivating young readers to follow their dreams

Gilbert, AZ - Sortis Publishing will release Dream by Adam Montierth on April 1st 2011. This is Emmy award winner Adam Montierth's first in a series of children's books that will be published by Sortis.

Dream is a brilliantly illustrated and very well written book aimed at motivating young readers to set out and accomplish goals even when others may have said it can't be done.

As a writer, producer, and director Mr. Montierth is no novice when it comes to writing. Adam and his twin brother Donovan have been writing since they were very young and as a result, they have garnered much acclaim for their work together, including 3 Emmy awards for short films they have written, produced, and directed under the banner of Brothers Ink Productions. Adam's wife and children have inspired him to apply his talent to the art of Children's literature.

Mike Webb owner of Sortis Publishing said "I am very pleased to have Adam aboard as one of our authors, his first book titled "Dream" is sure to be a hit among kids and parents alike as it is written to teach kids to go after their dreams and lead an accomplished life even when others might tell them otherwise. The book uses characters from history like the Wright brothers, Neil Armstrong and others to teach a great lesson. The book is also great for science and history as well".

Not only will the book be made available through retail outlets like Barnes and Noble and Border's but it will be available through online book retailers like Amazon.com and others.

Mr. Montierth will be involved with schools and other organizations involving kids by doing readings and other events on a regular basis.

More about the book and Mr. Montierth can be found by visiting the publisher's website at www.sortispublishing.com.
