

Indian Country Business Summit Keynote Speakers Addressed

22 AUG 2011 – The 2011 Indian Country Business Summit (ICBS) keynote speakers have been announced. U.S. Representative Tom Cole and Mark Masters, CEO Chloeta Fire LLC, will address an array of topics regarding “Teaming for Success.”

The ICBS will focus on familiarizing buyers with state, federal, and tribal opportunities from companies across Oklahoma and Texas. Convening for the fifth year, the conference intends to produce new business opportunities, and expects to introduce new suppliers to government agencies.

“I’m truly honored to have been named a keynote speaker with Representative Cole for the upcoming ICBS. This will be a great event for economic development in Indian Country” stated Masters.

Taking place August 29-31, the conference will be held in Norman, Oklahoma at the Embassy Suites Hotel. Sponsors include The American Indian Chamber of Commerce of Oklahoma (AICCO), The Tribal Government Institute (TGI) and The Oklahoma Bid Assistance Network (OBAN).

Chloeta Fire, LLC is a 100% American Indian owned and operated SBA HUBZone firm, which provides a diverse range of natural resources and emergency services solutions to both the public and private sectors.

For additional information please contacting Marketing Director Jennifer Hawkins at info@chloetafire.com.