Soilworks® continuous growth prompts relocation and expansion into new Global Corporate Headquarters

Chandler, AZ November 1, 2011 -- Soilworks®, LLC, the world's leading solution provider of environmentally safe soil stabilizers, dust control products and application services, announced today its relocation and expansion into its new global headquarters in Chandler, Arizona.

The move reflects the significant double digit growth the company has been experiencing since its last relocation and expansion during August of 2009. In response to the growing demand, Soilworks® larger, state of the art corporate headquarters will allow for it to quadruple its staffing capacity from the previous location.

The new global corporate headquarters is located at 1750 E. Northrop Blvd., Chandler, Arizona 85286 (<http://g.co/maps/pqu7g>). Strategically positioned adjacent to the SanTan Freeway in the Chandler Airport Center.

Soilworks® headquarters is highly visible to over 100,000+ daily commuters. In addition, Soilworks® large scale heavy industrial production plant, construction facility, equipment yard, warehouses and 26 car rail-spur are conveniently located only 1.5 miles from the new headquarters.

Commenting on the company's successful relocation and expansion, Soilworks® Chairman and CEO, Chad Falkenberg, noted, "What continues to set us apart from others in a highly competitive market is our commitment to combine our customer's business goals with our knowledge, state of the art soil technology and environmental best practices to consistently and repeatedly meet their objectives with unwavering integrity."

Soilworks® new headquarters will enable it to better respond to the growing needs of its customers and will support growth in all of its functional units, including product development, technical services, turn-key application services, quality assurance and global business strategy.
