

Mosaic Technology Named to NH Top 100 Private Companies

Business NH Magazine Ranks New Hampshire's Top 100 Private Companies

Salem, NH, November 23, 2011 - Mosaic Technology, a leading expert in virtualization and data storage technology, today announced it has been recognized by Business NH Magazine as a part of their Top 100 Private Companies list. This annual list honors the top 100 private companies responsible for driving business growth in New Hampshire based on annual revenue.

Mosaic Technology has been an important part of New Hampshire economy for the last 15 years with its corporate headquarters in Salem, NH. The company is recognized as a trusted partner to organizations across the world for delivering information technology solutions that meet today's business challenges. Mosaic dramatically simplifies the deployment of network architectures for virtual desktop and server environments by providing and integrating the best technologies together in a complete solution. The company completes the interoperability, test and any final assembly at its facilities in Salem, NH.

Each year, Business NH Magazine invites thousands of companies to participate in the annual survey of the Top 100 Companies in New Hampshire. This year's businesses were ranked by 2010 sales. According to Business NH, this list includes a diverse group of Granite State businesses making significant contributions to NH's overall economy.

"We are incredibly pleased that Mosaic Technology has been recognized for the third year in a row for its positive impact on the economy of New Hampshire. I believe we have some of the most talented professionals in NH working with us," said Tom Desmet, CEO of Mosaic. "It is an excellent example of what the best companies can do to overcome these challenging economic times: invest in our people. Thanks to their hard work - our customers have continued to choose Mosaic as their technology partner and the results can be seen in the award today."

Mosaic was also recently recognized by Everything Channel as part of CRN's VAR500 list, which ranks the top technology integrators in North America. Their recent addition of Dell's new storage arrays to their vast portfolio is only one of the many reasons why they are regarded as one of the Top 100 Private Companies in NH.

Mosaic also supports the growth of business in the state of New Hampshire. The company recently hosted presidential candidate Mitt Romney at their headquarters in Salem, NH for an industry roundtable discussion about the current state of small business in the United States. They also are an active participant within the Greater Salem Chamber of Commerce, the American Red Cross and local food banks.

Mosaic Technology's inclusion in the NH's Top 100 Private Companies was featured in the September 2011 issue of Business NH Magazine.
