SAN JOSÉ, COSTA RICA APRIL 23-25, 2012

Health tourism is one of the fastest growing industries nowadays. More and more persons are traveling to our region looking for elective or nonelective medical treatments. Moreover, the region has become a unique health tourism destination.

Insurance companies and self-insurance companies are recognizing the high quality of medical care in many countries in the region and are already offering incentives to patients so that they travel to other countries in order to get and pay for high quality medical care, thus obtaining significant benefits for everybody.

Health tourism is not only a savings possibility for plastic surgery; it has also become a unique solution to the health problems of millions of patients who do not have medical insurance.
