Introducing TAOPED, The Premier Provider of Continuing Education Tracking, Storage, and Analysis

Portland, OR – June 18, 2012 – Dig out that long-forgotten manila folder at the back of your desk, tell the intern to stop updating that spreadsheet on your desktop, and notify your hr department that you have a better way to manage your continuing education. TAOPED (www.taoped.com), the Internet's premier resource for continuing and professional education management is here. With a free account from TAOPED any professional from any field can easily and efficiently track, store, and analyze coursework, course credits, and provider relationships for all their continuing education needs.

TAOPED IS THE INTELLIGENT AND EFFICIENT WAY TO MANAGE CONTINUING AND PROFESSIONAL EDUCATION

TAOPED is for busy professionals who want an effortless way to store the continuing education credits they earn from their professional coursework, stay on track with their credential or license renewal requirements, and analyze the ways they earn their continuing education credits, regardless of provider, venue, topic, field, or credential.

With TAOPED these professionals now have a simple, efficient, and free solution that allows them to:
- store information about any course,
- analyze how they complete their continuing education coursework,
- keep track of what they spend on their coursework, and
- and access and update their accounts from anywhere.

"We've seen the frustration and anxiety the license renewal process can take for any professional," said Blake Lyman, founder and Managing Partner of TAOPED, LLC. "We created TAOPED as a resource for anyone who needs to collect and track continuing education coursework for their profession. Our goal is to provide a single resource in which any professional in any field, working for a firm of any size, can manage the courses they take, the credits they earn, and how they earn them."

WHY TAOPED

- In less than 1 minute any professional, administrator, or assistant can set up a free TAOPED account and begin managing coursework today.
- There are no limits on the number of courses, credits, or credentials a professional can track on TAOPED.
- TAOPED is accessible anytime from anywhere with an Internet connection.
- All TAOPED data is safely stored on secured servers.

WHAT'S NEXT

Stay tuned for more features as TAOPED adds paid and group accounts, that include advanced analytical analysis of course work, sharing of accounts, and better tracking of coursework to help professionals ensure they're on track for their re-accreditation requirements.
