PEMEX Procurement International Moves Offices in Houston

(July 8, 2013) Houston, TX - PEMEX Procurement International (PPI), formerly Integrated Trade Systems (ITS), moved offices from 2500 CityWest Blvd. to a new location at 10344 Sam Houston Parkway, Suite 100, Houston, Texas 77064 on July 1, 2013.

PEMEX Procurement International, a wholly owned company of Petróleos Mexicanos (PEMEX), provides comprehensive management solutions for the supply chain of imported goods and services to the PEMEX Group and customers worldwide. The new facilities will allow PPI to expand and increase their ability to provide a variety of quality procurement services.

Arturo Henriquez, President and CEO commented that, "Our new state of the art facilities provide a major benefit to our customers, as now our team has the infrastructure to offer a wider range of services in an even more efficient manner. I am confident that our new PEMEX Procurement International brand along with our new offices will allow us to further improve our quality of service and expand our market share."

In June, the company changed their name from Integrated Trade Systems (ITS) to PEMEX Procurement International (PPI). The new brand more effectively identifies them with the PEMEX Group of companies, while simultaneously reinforcing their procurement services. Their new logo provides a strong visual link to PEMEX, a well respected and trusted name in the oil industry.

PEMEX Procurement International is an ISO 9000 certified Quality Assurance Service provider that is committed to the satisfaction of its customers by continually improving its services through innovation, quality, efficiency, and competitiveness. PPI's core competencies include purchasing, negotiation of framework agreements, expediting and inspections, logistics and customs, and supplier invoice processing. PPI's professional qualifications, experienced workforce, and wide cultural diversity has made them an integral part of the PEMEX Group's supply chain.
