Meet ROUMA

World's first romantic app!

The first ever application designed to improve romantic meetings and bring people closer to each other during dates

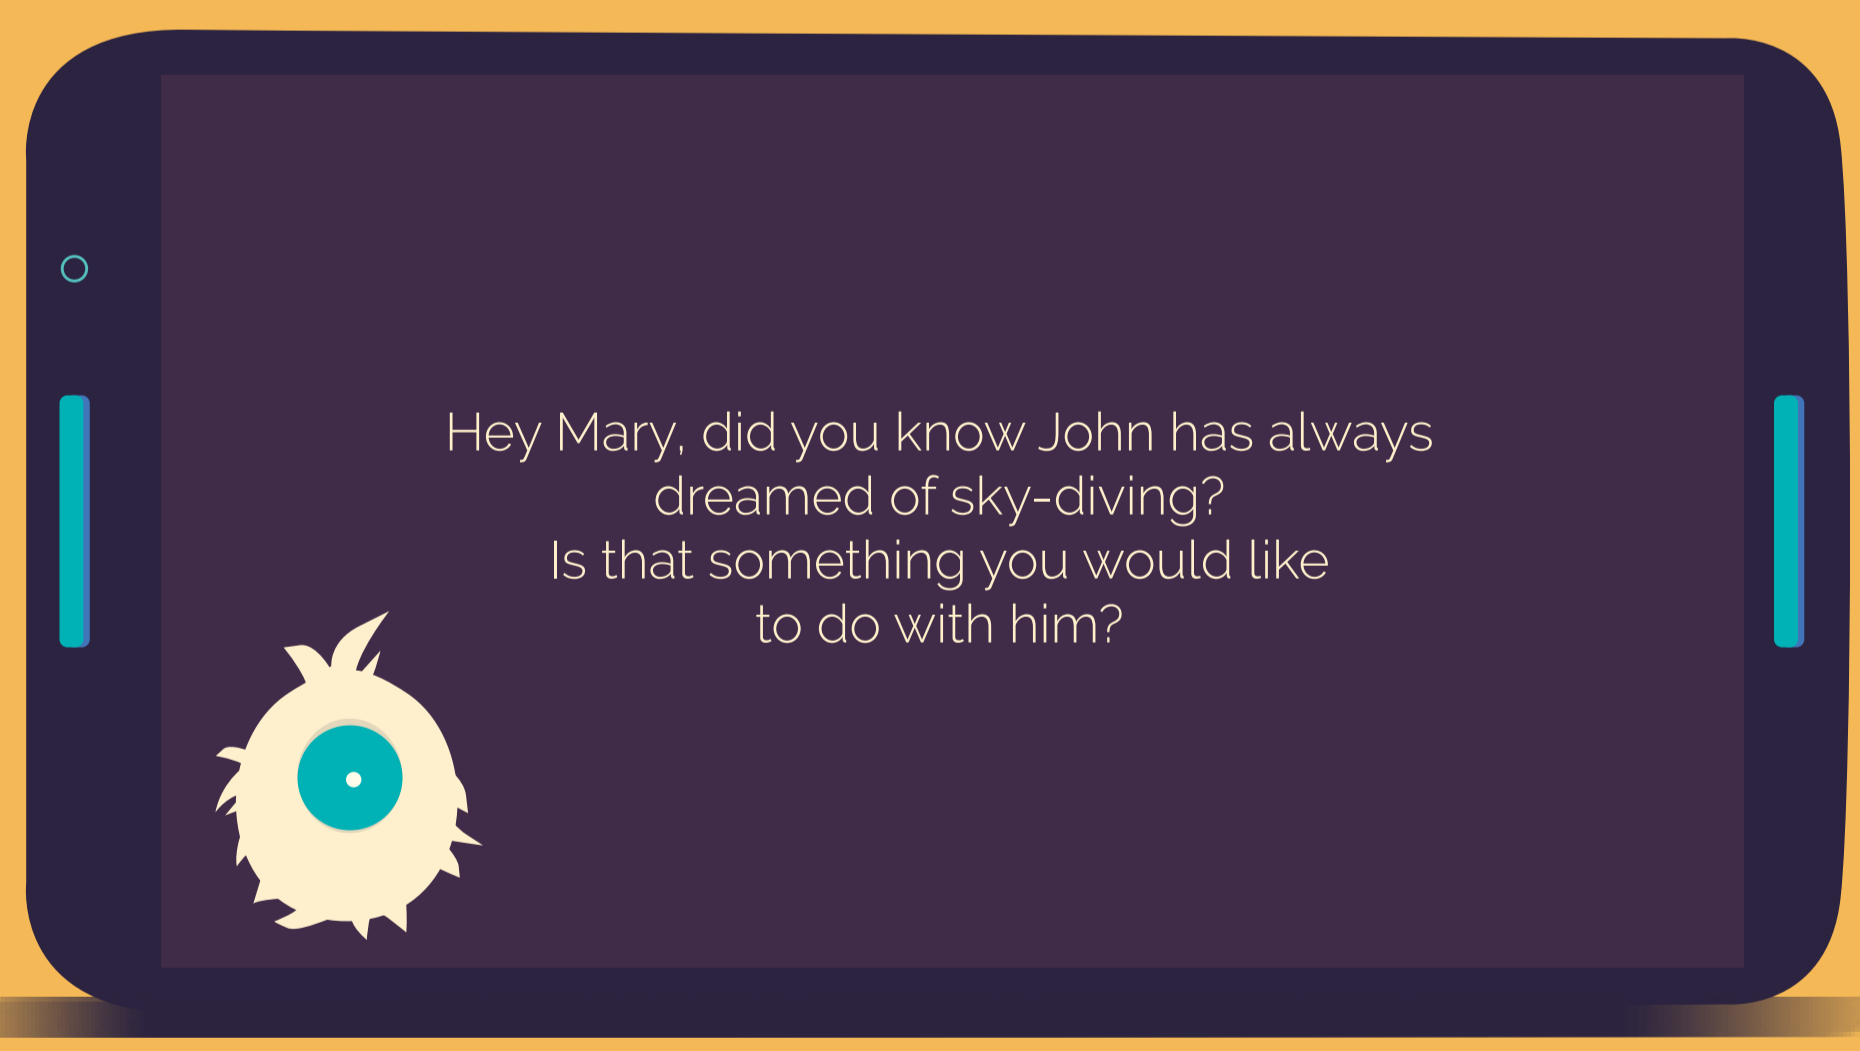

People are weird!
They develop the technology that is supposed to help them meet more people, find the perfect match and plan a date, but they still often have no idea how to interact during the date

That's why we have made Rouma. Invented and designed in France, the world's most romantic country, this is the world's first application that studies both daters' personal data to provide pertinent, customized tips to energize the conversations and feeling.

Rouma is not a dating app: it is a helpful advisor to those who are already connected. A great way to learn more about each other and generate interesting discussions with your significant other Rouma is there when you need to live a better date for a better relationship.

So DOWNLOAD ROUMA NOW and make your dates a success every time!
