InterDyn BMI, A Columbus Company is uniting with Sherwood Systems, a Microsoft consultancy serving more than 300 customers.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. – InterDyn BMI, A Columbus Company, and Sherwood Systems, two renowned Microsoft Gold Certified Partners and business solutions providers, are joining services effective immediately and will operate under the name InterDyn BMI, A Columbus Company. This acquisition will provide new geographic expansion for InterDyn BMI and allows the organization to better serve its customers from coast to coast.

“We are excited to grow our business in the southwest by uniting with Sherwood Systems,” says John Hendrickson, CEO of InterDyn BMI. “Our customers will be provided with more consulting resources across a larger geography.”

Since its founding in 1990, Sherwood Systems has built substantial market share, and today, services more than 300 customers in the southwestern part of the United States.

“I am excited about this acquisition,” says Lee Sherwood, Owner of Sherwood Systems. “Our employees and customers will have more resources, security and opportunities as part of this large national practice.”

Now serving clientele from 22 locations nationwide, InterDyn BMI continues to grow so that it can better serve its customers for years to come.

“We are impressed with what Sherwood has provided its large customer base throughout its 25 years of existence,” says Bryan Wilton, President of InterDyn BMI. “Bringing them onboard will allow us to enter a new customer market and combine our services with their world-class customer support.”

The acquisition is with immediate effect.
