PRESS RELEASE

BioStat Solutions, Inc. (BSSI) Announces New Director of Clinical Operations – Eloi Kpamegan, Ph.D.

Frederick, Maryland December 7, 2017: BioStat Solutions, Inc. today announced that Eloi Kpamegan, Ph.D. has accepted the position of Director, Clinical Operations.

Dr. Kpamegan brings more than 20 years of experience with a diverse technical background in pre-clinical and clinical statistics, as well as vaccine development. Dr. Kpamegan received a Ph.D. in Statistics from American University. He is also a recipient of a M.S. in Finance from George Washington University and has a Six Sigma Green Belt Certification and a Project Management Certificate from Lehigh University.

Dr. Kpamegan's experience includes regulatory expertise in the development and use of biomarkers in the biotech industry and reviewing Phase I, Phase II, and Phase III vaccine protocols. Dr. Kpamegan has previously been with Novavax, Aeras Global TB Vaccines and Sanofi Pasteur. Dr. Kpamegan has broad and diverse technical background in clinical, pre-clinical, non-clinical biostatistics, oncology, and vaccine development. He interacted with FDA/CBER in both clinical and nonclinical to defend clinical analysis and assay validation methods. His experience in clinical data management is a big asset to BioStat Solutions, Inc. Dr. Ena Bromley, President and Chief Scientific Officer states: "Eloi brings a wealth of experience to BSSI and we are excited to have him as Director of our Clinical Operations team".
