

t s beall is a new-media artist based in Glasgow, UK, whose work explores how the camera and digital media have shifted our notions of place, and how landscape is both imaged and imagined by modern technology. She completed her Ph.D. at the University of Glasgow in 2017