

Davida Siwisa James was born in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. She has lived in New York City, Los Angeles, and the St. Thomas, U.S. Virgin Islands. Davida has an English degree from UCLA, and she attended the Penn State Dickinson School of Law in Carlisle, Pennsylvania. She is an award-winning short story author (The Caribbean Writer), editor, and has written numerous magazine and newspaper articles as both a public relations director and freelance journalist.

Senior Services for the Financially Challenged (nonfiction; release date 2-27-18; 120 pages; $12.00 / $5.99 Kindle)

This pivotal book provides information for low-income seniors, their families and caregivers about the multitude of free social services available to help them live with more dignity. The material the author shares is totally public, but could take years of frustrating wrong turns to find out about on your own. This book is your shortcut to the questions you may not have known to ask—and it gives you the answers.

How many people know that Medicaid can help pay the greater portion of Assisted Living Facility fees in five-star residential care centers? The author walks you through the application process. If you are caring for a senior on Medicaid, you could be paid for services you may be providing for free out of the goodness of your heart. Did you know that there are subsidized low-income senior apartments in beautiful neighborhoods, some a block from the beach in California?

Ms. James offers vital details about nationwide senior social service programs with poignant facts about the struggles she had caring for her aging father who went from dementia to Alzheimer's.

https://www.amazon.com/s/ref=nb_sb_noss?url=search-alias%3Daps&field-keywords=senior+services+for+the+financially+challenged

MEDIA CONTACT:

davidasiwisa@gmail.com / [323] 388-3962

Davida's other titles include:

Imagined Lives (Autobiography; 2014)

The South Africa of His Heart (Memoir; 2007)

Life in Brief (short story-poetry collection)

Just a Note (an epistolary two-act play; 2017)

www.davidasiwisajames.com

