5 Memphis Local Colleges and Universities Admissions Directors

Join Forces May 10th

University of Memphis, Christian Brothers, Rhodes College, LeMoyne Owen College and Southwest Tennessee Community College

Memphis, Tennessee, May 2, 2018 ESU Scholars, Inc. presents the 2018 City of Memphis: Local College and University Forum on Thursday, May 10, 2018 from 6 pm to 7:30 at the University of Memphis Community Health Building 4055 North Park Loop Memphis, TN 38152. (located at the intersection of Goodlett & Park). This event is free and open to the public. Attendees can rsvp online at <http://www.esuscholars.org>

All five Directors of Admissions will be present to answer questions about college admissions and when to apply. Families can come learn about how to increase their chances for admissions at the different colleges. Learn about scholarship opportunities, and information about DACA regulations and updates.

This will be a great chance for families of high school students and adults to learn how they can prepare for college admissions and financial funding. Knowing what to do and when to do it is key to obtaining admissions.

ESU Scholars, Inc. is a college and career preparation nonprofit that seeks to increase college enrollment for all and help youth reach their personal career goals.
