Markets Served

Tellerex has worked with the leading Banking and ATM Service community supporting current generation ATM hardware while delivering upgrades, and service parts to the US Market. ERP, automation, and applications are used to manage the time and material incurred internally to yield financial visibility for daily operations. Once Tellerex applied this same methodology into designing a solution for our banking clients transitioning their systems, they created a completely new service offering saving their clients time, risk, and money.

Next steps.....National footprint

Ranke and Kilkelly founded Tellerex in 2013. The business has seen many successes by employing a lean operating attitude with a process controlled culture. "The banking and ATM landscape is about to experience a major reconstruction phase over the next 10 years. We are building the bridge that adds value, simplification, and visibility to our clients business", says Ranke. James adds "Creating innovative and thoughtful solutions in this dynamic niche industry while serving our customers with passion is our primary aim."

Tellerex is headquartered in Marietta, GA (30,000 sq feet) and is currently in the process of opening in Las Vegas as well as Dallas, TX adding an additional 100,000 square footage to support current and future operations.
