Archimedes' Printing Shoppe's New Publications
Just in Time for the Holidays!

Philadelphia, PA, November 17, 2021 – New publishing company, Philadelphia-based Archimedes' Printing Shoppe has released two new books just in time for the holiday season.

A Wabi-Sabi World is a beautiful children's book written by children's author Ellen LaBrecque and illustrated by Christiane Moore. It journeys through a wondrous slice of heaven—an animal sanctuary—where perfection is found in imperfection.

For the Love of Aholes is the second book in the mostly true, adult parody series, Aholes Need Love Too, starring some of New Jersey's finest animals—domestic and wild—who are all lovable jerks. Written by S.J. Russell and Erica Brown, and illustrated by Maggie McMahon, New York Times bestselling author A.J. Finn says of the books, “. . . a warm but wicked can't-we-all-just-get-along ode to the jerks in your life, will delight fans of Go the Fk to Sleep and P Is for Pterodactyl!”

These new additions complement Archimedes' community cat-inspired all ages book series, the whimsical Gata Unbound, beautifully illustrated by Pennsylvania artist Kaity Lacy, and written by Lucy Noland and S.J. Russell. As bestselling author Jamie Cat Callan says, this team has “. . . created an enchanting landscape, filled with charming, off-kilter characters and adventures worthy of a Wes Anderson film about felines!” The first four books contained in two volumes are available now. The fifth in the series is slated for release in the fall of 2022.

Archimedes' hardcover books are printed on tree-free bamboo paper stock with soy-based, eco-friendly inks; covers and spines are 100% recycled Eska®board.

All of Archimedes' books are available at archimedesprintingshoppe.com and select independent bookstores in Philadelphia, New Jersey and New York.
