Launch of New Political Activism Website: politiCAL911.com

San Diego, CA – A new political activism, news, and government watchdog website launches today. politiCAL911.com seeks to activate people, increase transparency, and hold elected officials & systems accountable.

WHAT: politiCAL911.com is a site focusing on politics in California (specializing in the San Diego region.) We seek to encourage a shift back to Center throughout California from both sides of the aisle.

WHY: Good intentions often yield bad outcomes. People are fleeing the state. We need to restore 'sabiduría de Abuela' -- Grandmother wisdom (aka common sense) to California.

WHO: Mary Davis is an accidental activist and legislative watchdog, sprung to action after witnessing the devastating consequences of arbitrary, politicized decision-making during Covid. A retired Police Dispatch Supervisor, she is not afraid to challenge establishment thinking on both sides of the aisle, and hopes to inspire thousands of others to meet her in the middle to do the same.

Our goals at politiCAL911.com are to:

1) Raise awareness regarding policies that are negatively impacting the quality of life in California,

2) Encourage and foment a political shift back towards Center in California politics.

As we strive to inform people about the issues that beset our state, we also seek to shine a light on how numerous unintended consequences greatly diminish the quality of life for ALL Californians.
