The 100

So many people think they can just jump on a mic and provided the world with acceptable voice over. Well, they are very wrong. Voice Over is an art. When it is done well, it is done by people who work hard on their craft, who have a passion for their work, and are truly an asset to whatever production they are a part of. I have gathered 100 of these individuals that span the complete voice over market, in one place for your use. The 100.
