Q4 High Growth Companies Announced by the Private Company Index

Chicago, IL – January 22, 2008 – The Private Company Index (PCI) announces its “Top Five Growth Company” slate for Q4 2007. These five honorees experienced overall average revenue growth of 56.3% over their Q4 2006 performance. This diverse group includes a broad spectrum of companies ranging from technology, to telecommunications to apparel and, collectively, claim average annual revenue of $27.2 Million.

All but one of these companies has been honored by the PCI in a prior quarter for leading our internal growth charts – making this a group of companies to keep watching!

Q4 2007 Private Company Index Top Five Growth Companies:

Appletree Answering Services – Wilmington, DE – Live answering services and call center serving the business sector (www.appletreeanswers.com).

High Performance Technologies – Reston, VA - advanced technology consulting, architecture, engineering and systems development services to the federal government (www.hpti.com).

Indigenous Designs – Santa Rosa, CA – Handmade fashions created from organic materials using fair trade practices (www.indigenousdesigns.com).

Nationlink Wireless – Franklin, TN – Wireless solutions and software for both businesses and individuals (www.mynationlink.com).

Ticketcity.com – Austin, TX – Sports, entertainment and major event ticket broker (www.ticketcity.com).

Stephen H. Watkins, CEO of PCI sponsor company Entrex Inc., says, “This group of companies topped our list this quarter by exceeding their own previous revenue benchmarks – better than anyone else did it. It’s a testament to a growth-oriented company when goals like this are realized. Looking at the industry diversification here, you can’t claim they are in sexy sectors that are performing well overall. These are companies with effective leadership who defined growth terms and motivated their teams to execute with precision.”
