

SHOPPING

Streets: First head to the bottom of Dong Khoi ('Khai') (E6) and walk up exploring adjacent streets – particularly Dong Du ('yu') (D5-C6). For a more authentic slice of Saigon, cross Nguyen Hue ('wing way') and explore Ton That Thiep (E4), Ton That Dam (E4) and Ho Tung Mau (E5). Antique hunters can lose a day on Le Cong Kieu (F3). Ready for more? Le Thanh Ton (D3-C4) from Dong Khoi, then south down Pasteur (D3) will yield more treasure, as will Ben Thanh Market on Le Loi (E2) and surrounding streets.

Lacquer ware: The stand out thing to bring home from Saigon. Head to Saigon Craft (D5) for stunning original works, then Gift 42 (D6) for the best of the rest.

Home Decor: Does your place need a makeover? If you're thinking of investing $2,000 or more on home furnishing, a crate shipped from Saigon could pay for your trip. Begin by looking for major items in Gaya (E4) if you like modern, and Verlim (F5), if your style is more formal/traditional. Organise shipping through either of these fine merchants. Then you can go wild and buy up... Framed Art (see below), Gom Viet pottery (C3), NGA (C4/D3) / Mosaic (D5) lights and antiques found on Le Cong Kieu. Provide extra padding for your crate with Catherine Denoual (B5) bed ware, and/or Dolce Casa (D5) cushions/quilts. Ask these and other retailers to deliver your purchases back to Gaya or Verlim. They take care of the rest.

Clothes: Vietnamese silk is fabulous and Hoang Khai showed the world. His flagship Khai Silk store at 107 Dong Khoi (D5) is a must visit. Next door, Creation (D5) and Indochina (C5) provide sterling competition. Ladies, you are spoilt for choice after this. Follow your nose, but make sure you don't miss La Bella (D3), La Bella Blue (D3), Song (C4), and acclaimed designer Minh Hanh (D6). Look out for exquisite hand embroidered items along the way.

Accessories: At Gaya (E4) you'll spot Anupa bags and you'll want one. Those not loaded should avoid sticker shock and (ladies) head immediately to Ipa Nima (D3) for a stunning and more affordable collection. Press on to Manadrina (D3) for bargain shoes and Le Hang (D3) for bead/bespoke jewelry nirvana.

Kids' presents: Musical stuff from Chuck and Anna (D5) will hit the spot.

DVD: For movie buffs with no scruples - Ho Tung Mau (E5)

Romance: Candles, oils and soaps from Harnn (C6).

Tacky tourist stuff: Ben Thanh Market (E2) has the most. Adjacent streets are great for fashion hunters/foodies.

Bookstores: Fahasa books (C4/D5).

Art: Vietnamese artists are increasing their international reputation. Sell some stock and invest in something yielding a daily return from your walls. Consider your investment in Apricot (D6), Mai's (D5), Hanoi Studio (C8), or Tu Do (E5). Eat and contemplate in Gallery Deli (D5). Listen and contemplate in Sax 'n Art (D3). Original art out of your range? Bring home a tube of 1m sq $60 knockoffs. Bargain frames – Ben Thanh Art and Frame (A6).

Gentleman/Tailors: Chaps – don't despair. Khai Silk (D5) and Creation (D5) have very desirable shirts at around $30, and ties to compete with your Zegnas for $10. Off the peg shirts can be tailored for you at no charge. Otherwise, take your favourite shirts/shorts/pants to the lovely Tricia and Verona (C5), who'll make you up a perfect copy in silk, linen or finest Egyptian cotton. Allow two days. $25 - $50. Here for five days? You have time for a suit. For quality work from old boys who know their cloth - Cao Minh (D3). Want to go where old money/ex pats go? Minh Doan (D2) is your pick.

Phones: VNPT charge like a wounded bull for roaming. Pick up a local SIM at Dien Thoai Mobile (B4) or one of the many on Ho Tung Mau (E5). Note: from international dial +848 8xx xxx. Locally drop the 848. Mobiles, from international dial +84 9xx xxx xxx, locally 09xx xxx xxx.

RESTAURANTS

Vietnamese 101 - Pho
Vietnamese: First up, you need to try the national dish Pho ('fuh'). Delicious broth and noodles with meat and fresh greens/herbs you add. Where? Pho 2000 (E2) is a good halfway house between local and tourist. Pho Oso (D6) is on a safe bet with their promise "no delicious, no pay". Pho 24 (C5) is increasingly everywhere and has air con and comfort. Ready for more? Local tycoon Hoang Khai does more than silk. Try one of his Vietnamese degustations, at the gorgeous Nam Phan (B4), with outside courtyard, or Nam Kha (D5), around a ritzy indoor pool. Try his Hoi An (A6) restaurant for some regional specialties. With set menus at $25 and up, they are pricey by local standards, but truly memorable. For less formal and cheaper dining, seek out Quan An Ngon (C2). It's always packed. For a clubby evening, book at Temple Club (E4), with coffee and ice cream at Fanny (E4) afterwards. For intimate, try Lemongrass (D5).

French: Lower your expectations. The legacy of fine food is thin on the ground in Saigon. For five star dining at first world prices - Square One (C5) and Le Bordeaux are the places to go. For a more intimate Saigon experience, seek out one of the smaller places - Bi Bi (B6), La Forchette (D6) and La Nicoise (E5) are all nice. The Camargue (B5) and The Refinery (D5) both have great courtyard settings and good menu choices.

Comfort food: OK we all need a break. Staying two star? Start your day with breakfast at the Majestic (E6) or the Sheraton (C5). Get your burger fix at Underground (D6), your pizza fix at Sarpino's (E4). Chocolate - Jeff de Bruges (C6).

CAFÉS

Find refuge at Highland (C5), Gloria Jeans (D5), Mojo (C5) or Java (C6). Alternatively, save the planet from pint size caramel lattes and seek out La Fenêtre Soleil (D3). Brave the decrepit stairway and enter an oasis. Even better, go local. Grab a plastic chair and sit on the pavement at Kem Café (D6). Practice saying 'ga-fe da' (black+ice) or 'ga-fe sua da' (condensed milk). For hot say 'na-um'. Don't expect to be understood.

FOOD

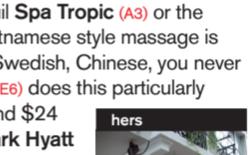

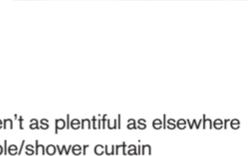

Enjoy your local coffee? Test your luggage allowance and stock up with excellent local beans at the coffee shop on Dong Khoi (D5) or the one at the bottom of Ton That Dam (F5). $7 to $10 a kilo. Pay the extra for Arabica or a blend. The cheaper Robusta bean that makes Vietnam the world's #2 coffee exporter is bitter on its own. Other local provisions can also be found on Ton That Dam street market and around the corner on Ham Nghi. Look out for excellent bargain priced cashew nuts. Need a stash of upmarket/familiar goodies in your room? Look no further than Annam (C8) or Veggy's (B5) for fine imported produce. Heading out of town? Grab some fresh baguettes and pastries from Pat à Chou (C5).

PAMPERING

Good/cheap massage places aren't as plentiful as elsewhere in SE Asia. For more than the table/shower curtain experience, head up to the tranquil Spa Tropic (A3) or the cozy D1 L'Apothiquaire (C4). Vietnamese style massage is great, a little bit of Thai, Shiatsu, Swedish, Chinese, you never know what's next. The Majestic (E6) does this particularly well. Prices at all the above around $24 an hour. Xuan Spa (C5) at the Park Hyatt and Qi (C5) at the Caravelle are fabulous but more expensive. On the other hand, with the exception of Dong Du Salon (C5), the $10 places at the bottom of Dong Khoi that look dodgy are dodgy. Chaps - head over to Just Men (D4) for a charming and legitimate male haven. If you've never had a manicure/pedicure before, now's the time. At 3am, the jet lagged can stroll to the 24 hour Rona massage (F3).

SIGHTS/ACTIVITIES

Saigon. Manhattan on mopeds. A city finding its feet in the international world and loving it. Communism meets capitalism. SE Asia with extra Chinese and a dash of French. Energy, beautiful people, incredible shopping, wonderful food.

Whilst not blessed with great buildings and parks, City Hall (C3), Notre Dame (A3) and the Post Office (A3) will give you your Kodak moment. Up early? Join the old ladies doing tai chi at the park by Pham Ngu Lao (F1). Less fun but more important, a visit to the War Remnants Museum (B1) is almost obligatory, given the still shocking recent history of this town/country. Go before you eat and emerge as a card-carrying pacifist. If you have a day, make an early start and book a trip to the Chu Chi tunnels. See why the War was always going to be lost.

Mekong Delta

Had enough of the ugly? Tick off one of the '1001 places to see before you die' by visiting the stunning Mekong Delta. For the best value tour options head over to Pham Ngu Lao (F1). Two-day trips are best if you have time. If you have money, skip the two star hotel included in your tour and stay at the marvellous Victoria Hotel, Can Tho.

You have more than two days? Don't hesitate. Get on the one-hour flight to Phu Quoc, off the southern coast. It's the same size as Phuket, Thailand and just as beautiful, but last year less than 50,000 visitors made it here. By contrast Phuket welcomed 2.6 million. See it before the hordes arrive. Stay at La Veranda ($165), Mango Bay ($60), or Beach Club ($25).

ACCOMMODATION

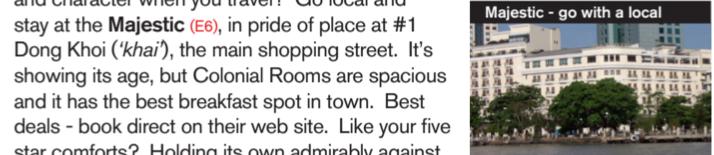

Sleeping in Saigon is a game of 'hi-lo'. Choose luxury, or seek out a two star bargain. There's not much in between. For value, the backpacker district of Pham Ngo Lao ('faam moo laow') has many great small hotels available. Bich Duyen (C1) and Linh Hotel (C6)

Linh Hotel

Blue River (C1) join the more established An An Hotel (C1) as discerning choices to stay for less than $40. Those here for the nightlife will like Ho Sen (C6). It has box seat position for bar hopping. Their VIP room is fabulous at $70. Thanh Loc (E4) is in an interesting part of town and is clean and spacious. The MySherpa pick? Without doubt the spanking new Linh Hotel (C6) on Dong Du ('yu'). Comfort and space in the centre of the shopping/nightlife strike zone. At $35, it's an eye-popping bargain.

At the value end of your luxury options is the Renaissance Riverside (D6). As of writing, the Renaissance was voted the #1 hotel in town, based on the excellent 'TripAdvisor Popularity Index'. 329 comfortable rooms, rising above the river, with good amenities and service - yours for around $200 a night. Like some history and character when you travel? Go local and stay at the Majestic (E6), in pride of place at #1 Dong Khoi ('khai'), the main shopping street. It's showing its age, but Colonial Rooms are spacious and it has the best breakfast spot in town. Best deals - book direct on their web site. Like your five star comforts? Holding its own admirably against the tide of global chains is the Caravelle (C5). It has dress circle position by the Opera House, style and flawless service for around $300. If you're a Sheraton (C5) fan, or paying with company plastic, you'll be happy. Saigon has the mother ship. One of the largest and best of their global chain runs like a well-oiled machine, humming at the base of Dong Khoi. Shame they make you pay first world prices. If you really don't care about price, then stay at the Park Hyatt (C5). As you pull up to its gorgeous white exterior overlooking Opera, you'll feel what you already know; you've arrived. What's $400+ among alpha friends?

BARS/NIGHTLIFE

Rex Hotel

First up you have to tick the 'been there done that' box with rooftop drinks at the Rex Hotel (D4), Saigon Saigon (C5) or the excellent Level 23 (D5). Impress your date at icy cool Q Bar (C5). Business globetrotters, resist CNN and a club sandwich, and get out to Cafe Latin (C6) or Quing (C6) instead. For lively/music, go to Camargue (B5), Vasco's (B5), Blue Gekko (A5) or Alibi (B5). For the Saigon 'Hard Rock' experience - Apocalypse Now (C6). For pool joints - NY Saigon (C5), CaLi (C6), Chieu Thuy (A5), or pick one of the bars that go by a number only. To rave with the locals, head to Gossip (F2) or America. For a younger international crowd, go to Eden Bar (F1). For an older, new rich crowd - New World Hotel (F1).

Late night: Saigon isn't as dangerous as its reputation, but don't wander the streets drunk and be extra wary of motor cycle taxi (xe-om or 'moto') drivers after midnight. Get a taxi. Don't struggle to close your wallet on the street after taking cash from an ATM - especially on Dong Khoi. Go to the ANZ bank (D6) or the ATM by the casino at the Sheraton (D5).

USEFUL

Getting About: Crossing the road in Saigon can be a nightmare. The trick is to disconnect the part of your brain that processes fear. Be Moses. Walk slowly and confidently - the sea of motor scooters will part every time. After this, you're ready to for some serious fun - a trip on a moto. Whilst a few vice peddlers at the bottom of Dong Khoi give these chaps a bad reputation, and few speak much English, it's the only way to see this town. Note that your moto driver will be getting a kickback from some places he's recommending. He needs it to live, so if you get a good moto, tip well. If not, stop at the nearest corner and duck into a shop until he's gone. 20,000 for short trips, 150,000 plus tip for a half-day.

Medical: There are many pharmacies (Nha Thuoc) about. The one at the top of Dong Khoi is the best (C4). Play charades to explain your problem, or write down the medicine you're after and see if you're in luck. For more minor medical matters, the nice folks at Family Medical (A2) will take good care of you. For more serious problems get to Singapore or Bangkok if you can.
